THE DAILY CLARION

Governor's Annual Message.

Vol. XL .-- No 7.

Executive Office, Jackson, Miss., Jan. 2, 1877. to the Senute and House of Representatives:

GENTLEMEN-At the beginning of a new year, and of a aw century in our country's history, you have assembled the Legislative Branch of the State Government, to edicate yourselves anew to the various duties and reonsibilities with which you have been entrusted.

Conscious, as you are, of the magnitude and importance believed that you will be found not wanting in a proper onception of what the exigencies of the times demand. or in the courage necessary to enact such laws as will be afficient to project the interests of every citizen of the state, and to enforce that which is right under any and all

I may be permitted to express the hope that your sesrenerous charity, and that your labors will so promote Gob, and to the gratitude of the people you represent.

At no previous period have the necessities of the tate more thoroughly demanded prudent, careful and we in conducting legislative business, will enable you proceed at once intelligently with the work before t is with feelings of profound pleasure that I congratte you on the domestic and social prosperity and magnifity of our beloved State. During the recent ting political canvass, comparative peace and good der prevailed. No disturbance was reported that was promptly met and suppressed by the local authorities, w has it been charged that any citizen of the State used to submit to, or in any way resisted, the authority any civil officer. So far as I am advised, not a single sturbance occurred on the day of election; and at no me since the organization of the State Government, ave the people been more peaceful, quiet and law-abid-

While the past seasons have not been as favorable as and have been desired, and the yield of the crops has een comparatively small, yet the husbandman and the aborer have received a reasonable reward for their labor, and good health, the greatest of earthly blessings, has enerally prevailed. No epidemic, or malignant form of ease, has appeared in our midst. For these, and other ssings, we should, as a people, be filled with reverent mankfulness to "Him from whom cometh every good and

In compliance with my constitutional duty, and to aid directing your attention to matters which require conation, I submit a summary of the condition of the State, and its various institutions, accompanied by the commendation of such measures as seem to me necesary and expedient.

THE PUBLIC REVENUES.

The Reports of the Auditor of Public Accounts and ate Treasurer will show the finances of the State to be a most satisfactory condition. At the present date, e Reports not having been completed to the close of Leaving as the Indebtedness of the State e pust year, it is impossible to give in full the transacms of the two Departments. But at an early day, I will ransmit to you the Reports of the officers named, containing a complete statement of the operations of their espective Departments during the year 1876.

When you met in regular session, in January, 1876, the warrants of the State were sold on the streets of Jackson at from 80 to 85 cents on the dollar. In January, 1875, ales were made by public officers at 73 cents, and in July, at 85 cents. A careful calculation shows the averreprice of warrants, during 1875, to have been 84 ents. During your session, the value of the paper of the State rose to 95 cents. Shortly afterwards, and during the dull months of summer, when there were few taxes to pay, and but little occasion for dealings, of any consequence, in State warrants, the price rose to 97 its, and remained at that figure until about the first of November, when it rose to 99 cents. Since the last named date, the paper of the State, although nominally at one cent below par, has really been worth dollar

This satisfactory result is due to the wisdom and pruence of your legislation in 1876, to the public confidence elt in the administration of the affairs of the government, and to the spirit of retrenchment and economy that pervades every department I congratulate you, and through you the people of every section of the State, and upon the satisfactory report which the public servants are enabled to make of their stewardship.

The following figures will give you a tolerably fair idea of the transactions of the financial branch of the State government, from the first day of January, 1876, to the

PUBLIC EDUCATION.

Since your last session, Hon. Thomas S. Gathright, having been appointed to the Presidency of the "State Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas," has resigned the position of State Superintendent of Public Education, a position which he had filled for nearly five months with distinguished credit to himself and to the State. On the 17th day of August last, I appointed Hon. Joseph Bardwell, of Lauderdale county, to the position made vacant $1,430,192.00 by the resignation of Prof. Gathright. The system of Public Education has become a part of our State Government, and in every section the people seem to be alive to the importance of free and liberal education for the youth of both races. Few, if any, obstacles are interposed by any class of our citizens, and soon, it is confidently believed, the Free School System richer and more experienced States.
